NEWSLETTER OF THE AUSTRALASIAN PLANT SOCIETY

PENTACHONDRA

Five Year Index
of Australasian Plants

Issues 21 - 30
(Autumn 1998 - Spring 2003)

2003

Notes

The layout of this Index of Pentachondra follows that of the previous Decennial Index issued in November 1998.

It allows the reader interested in gaining knowledge on any particular species or variety of Australasian plants to locate all articles mentioning that plant in the last five years' issues bringing the total number of newsletter volumes covered up to 30. (Seed lists have not been included).

Common or local names of plants have been included when mentioned in an article, e.g.: Australian frangipani (Hymenosporum flavum), so if the reader wishes to locate a Latin name starting from a common name this will usually be easy. The reverse is only achieved by scanning each appropriate article mentioned against the Latin name to see if the common name occurs.

Changes in nomenclature have been included as they occur in articles. Names quoted are those used by the contributor.

The Index attempts to exclude plants not originally native to Australasia; any exceptions are due entirely to the author's ignorance (as are any idiosyncratic spellings). Please tell me of any you notice - therein lies the possibility of improvement.

A few copies of the previous Decennial Index are still available (July '03), and readers wishing to see it or articles in issues not in their possession should apply to the Newsletter Editor. Anybody wishing to have an electronic copy of either or both Indices should contact me (up-to-date address details in the Membership list).
