NEWSLETTER OF THE AUSTRALASIAN PLANT SOCIETY

PENTACHONDRA

DECENNIAL INDEX
OF AUSTRALASIAN PLANTS

ISSUES 1 – 20
AUTUMN 1988 TO SPRING 1998

NOVEMBER 1998

Notes

I have assembled this Index from the species, varieties and their derivatives mentioned in the Society's Newsletter during its ten years' existence. Each entry gives the number of the Newsletter issue, the title of the article in which the plant is mentioned and the initials of the author where originally quoted (many articles are unattributed). Except for the first seven issues before the A5 format was adopted, each Newsletter has its own index of article titles.

I have given a separate entry to each occurrence of a plant name rather than gather all under one entry. This convention simplifies collating and computer editing. The Index includes any common names with Latin names in brackets. I have omitted names occurring in the occasional Seed Lists, now published separately. A plant name followed by 'D' indicates a line drawing in the article.

I have tried my best to ensure that only Australasian plants are included. I apologise for any shortcoming in this respect and for the confusion which arises in the nomenclature of certain groups, for example Hebe. Of course, names change over time and contributors have adopted different approaches. I have retained the name used by the contributor, unless there seems to have been an error in typography – a rare event.

Readers wishing to refer to articles in Issues not in their possession should apply to Sue Hyams (see back cover).

It is intended to follow this Index of Volumes 1–20 by supplementary Indexes, perhaps at five year (ten volume) intervals.

My thanks are due to several members for their practical support in this project, in particular Tim Longville and Sue Hyams for their help with editing, and Tony Entwistle for deciding to publish.
